A visit to Elba - what could be wrong with that? It's around 10km off the coast at Piombino and served by very regular ferry services. You can take the car on the ferry or choose to park up in one of the many car parks and walk on.

The crossing to the island takes around an hour by normal ferry. The island is quite large and if you want to explore then having your car is the obvious choice but you could choose to hire a scooter for a bit of variety?

There are tourist sites to see but probably the most obvious thing is to enjoy the seafood over a relaxed lunch and take in the views.
