

OFFICINI BOCELLI RESTAURANT

A visit to Lajatico, the home of Andrea Bocelli and lunch or dinner at his restaurant - well why not.

There's every chance you'll meet the man himself but watch for the immediate change of music if he arrives - off goes the Ed Sheeran - well I guess you can't play the obvious stuff all the time.

The style here is relaxed, the shop, bar, restaurant is an interpretation of "modern Tuscany" and that's the food style too.

We think it's a great Sunday afternoon destination, kick back and take it easy if you can. Simple things made special in Tuscany.

Get Le Sodole staff t book for you - especially if it's Sunday! It's about 30 minutes drive so you don't want to find that there isn't a table for you when you arrive.

Combine this with a trip to Volterra - some great scenery, fantastic roads and well Volterra - it's the best!
