

PISA

This “golden triangle” is bounded by Pisa, Siena and Florence and all three are worth a visit so you can find a few special places that may become your favourites.

Your author likes Pisa because the leaning tower and duomo brings huge numbers of people that give the city a buzz at any time. In truth I like Pisa mainly because there is a superb restaurant La Pergoletta amidst the streets that run along the north side of the Arno.

But there are many restaurants, coffee shops, stores and attractions that will let you find your favourite part or favourite thing to do.

A cautionary note is that the city has lots of access restrictions and parking controls and it's not always easy to see what your being expected to avoid! Go by train or park in one of the car parks on the south side of the river and you'll be fine!
